A LITTLE RED SPOT

Novel Experiment by Which It May Be Made to Disappear.

A peculiar feature about poslam, the new skin discovery is that one is asked to buy it without first sending to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, for an experimental sample and applying same to an affected part of the skin, about the size of a silver dollar. It will clear the spot so treated in twenty-four hours—a remarkable visual demonstration of its powers.

While poslam has been mentioned principally in connection with the cure of eczema, the most stubborn of skin diseases, it must be remembered that when used for itch, hives, pimples, blotches, acne, itching feet, scaly scalp, chafing of infants and similar minor skin troubles its action is all the more pronounced, results being seen after an overnight application. As only a small quantity of poslam is necessary to cure such cases, a special fifty-cent package, usually sufficient, has been placed on sale at the Crystal Pharmacy and other leading drug stores in Pensacola and throughout the country.

PUSHING WORK OF SOLICITING SUBSCRIPTIONS

BUSINESS MEN'S COMMITTEE TO ASSIST CARNIVAL ASSOCIATION IS ACTIVELY AT WORK—TOTAL SUBSCRIPTIONS OF $4,350.50 REPORTED.

The re-inforced business men's committee is pushing the work of soliciting subscriptions to the 1910 carnival, and are meeting with a fair degree of success. Practically all of the old subscribers are renewing their allegiance to the cause, and many are increasing substantially the amounts formerly subscribed. The number of entirely new subscribers is surprising, and extremely gratifying when it is considered that the whole country is passing through a period of general business depression.

The committee is making every effort to get subscriptions in such shape that same can be turned over to the carnival association during the present week, as the actual work of preparing for the 1910 carnival should now be well under way.

The first step to follow raising the necessary subscriptions will be the election of the new board of directors and from the "slates" that are now being discussed, there is no doubt but that the 1910 Mardi Gras carnival will be in the hands of good men.

WIDE STREETS ARE LAID OUT

East Pensacola Heights Commands Fine View of Bay.

Work on Pensacola's new addition is being rapidly pushed and gives promise of one of the most beautiful residence sections in the South. Those who have not visited East Pensacola Heights recently will be surprised to see the vast amount of work that has been done there.

The streets have all been laid out and cut through. Even now there are several homes in the course of construction. Jacksonville may boast of her Riverside and Tampa of her Hyde Parks but when the improvements that are under way in East Pensacola Heights are completed, Pensacola will have a suburb that from either beauty, accessibility or healthfulness can not be equaled in the South.

With the beautiful Bayou Texar on the one side and the magnificent bay on the other, with the cool fresh breeze three hundred and sixty-five days out of every year, one could hardly wish for a more beautiful or pleasant place for a home. Dotted with fine oaks and fragrant magnolias, this constitutes only one of the many attributes that is sure to make this one of the most favored residence districts of Pensacola.

THE CHIPLEY SCHOOL CLOSES

INTERESTING EXERCISES WERE CONDUCTED AT CONCLUSION OF A VERY SUCCESSFUL TERM UNDER MANAGEMENT OF PROF. W. N. SHEATS.

Chipley, May 9.—The Chipley high school, under the management of Prof. Wm. N. Sheats, principal, closed Friday night. The commencement consisted of four exercises, the first a contest for medals by the fourth and fifth grades. The first prize was awarded to Miss Nellie Williams, second to Miss Kate Wells, and third to Maxwell Peters. Special mention is made of Misses Myrtis Langston, Gussie Farrior, Marian Campbell and Lucy Daniel.

Wednesday night there were drills, recitations, songs, etc., by the first, second and third grades, and they were the most interesting of the commencement exercises and Miss Langston and Miss Beard deserve much credit for the training of the little children.

Thursday night was that of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, and was devoted to songs, drills and dialogues which were appreciated by all.

Friday night was that of the contest by the young men and young ladies in an oratorical contest for medals.

Miss Ethel, who recited "The Russian Christmas," won first medal. Master Alex. Campbell, who recited "Charge of the Light Brigade," won second medal. Miss Bertha Daniel recited "A Face Upon the Floor," and won third medal.

Special mention is made of Misses Janie McKinna, Alma Langston, Exa McQuagge, Ida Jeffries, Annie Turner, Nella Wells, Laura Pinder, Althea Edgerton and Mr. Harvey Moore, who rendered their recitations very creditably.

Mr. Sheats has given universal satisfaction as principal of the school and will be elected for the ensuing year.

MOTHERS' DAY WAS OBSERVED

MANY WERE THE EMBLEMS OF THE OCCASION, A WHITE ROSE. SPECIAL PROGRAMS OBSERVED AT CHURCHES.

Worn in honor of the best friend on earth, displayed as a token of esteem of the friend who remains when fancied friendship has expired, as an emblem to the memory of mothers living and mothers dead, the white rose—its whiteness standing for purity, its form for beauty, its fragrance for love, its wide field for charity and its lasting quality for faithfulness, all being a true mother's virtues—adorned the lapel of coats of scores of men, and formed an additional decoration on the breasts of the women of this city Sunday, in observance of the first celebration of Mothers' Day in this state.

Several churches observed suitable programs for celebrating the day, large congregations being in attendance at the various places of worship which announced a set program.

If there exists in the minds of men anywhere the impression that we have forgotten these queens of the universe, let it be dispelled. The very thought does a true man an injustice.

The day is sacred to mothers. It is the day on which fond recollections are presented to view and the occasion on which she more intently gazes upon the old portraits on the wall and the faded photographs in the family album—the day when she kisses again and again the golden lock of hair which tells of the hapless hour when death robbed her of an obedient or wayward child. It is dedicated to the backward look—the day which stirs the memory and the leaves in the rose jar and causes another peep into the cherished treasure box containing baby's ring and other childish adornments.

No matter what a man's character may be, it can be truly said of him "Thy mother loves thee still."

Heaven forbid that we will ever forget her.

It is a beautiful thought, this giving of a day to mothers, and the time should come, as it doubtless will, when appreciation of that for which the day stands will be universal.

W. W. VARN IS HELD IN JAIL AT DURANGO

OFFICERS INVESTIGATING KILLING OF E. E. MILLER HAVE BEEN UNABLE TO FIND REVOLVER WHICH VARN CLAIMS MILLER SHOT HIM WITH.

The following from Torreon, Mex., to the Herald of El Paso, Texas, will be read with interest in this section: According to news that has reached this city regarding the killing of E. E. Miller by his partner, W. W. Varn, at their ranch in the state of Durango, near the station of Canatlan of the International railroad, Varn is now in jail at Durango.

According to first reports, Miller and Varn left their ranch house about 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on horseback. About an hour later Varn returned alone on foot and with one hand nearly shot off. He said that he and Miller had become involved in an altercation and that after Miller had shot his horse from under him and wounded him in the hand, he had killed Miller.

The officers at Canatlan were advised at once of the occurrence and took Varn, who made no resistance whatever, into custody.

It is said that Varn's version of the tragedy is that he and Miller left the ranch together on good terms and in good spirits. After riding for some time they began to dispute over a difference of about $13,000 in their accounts. The conversation became heated and Miller suddenly pulled his pistol and began shooting. The first shot wounded the horse which Varn was riding and the second pierced his hand, whereupon Varn pulled his gun and returned the fire with two shots in quick succession, both taking effect in the region of Miller's heart and he died almost instantly.

When the officers went to the scene of the duel they found the body of Miller lying as it had fallen. His horse was found near. In the saddle was a rifle which evidently had not been used in the fray. A thorough search was made about the place, but it is claimed that no pistol could be found with which Miller could have done the first shooting.

Miller's body was brought to the city of Durango where an autopsy was held. Varn will be held in Durango while an investigation is being made.

Miller and Varn are both Texas men. They have been ranching in the state of Durango for the past two years. One of their specialties was that of raising Hereford cattle, a large number of which they had imported from the United States for breeding purposes. Aside from cattle they were dealing largely in timber in their section of Durango.
